INTERNSHIP PROGRAM ADMISSIONS

Briefly describe in narrative form important information to assist potential applicants in assessing their likely fit with your program. This description must be consistent with the program's policies on intern selection and practicum and academic preparation requirements:

Washburn Center for Children is committed to providing equal employment and training opportunities for all persons. Its personnel practices, including recruiting, training, upgrading and termination, will be administered without prejudice based on age, disability, race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, familial status, marital status, public assistance status, or any other protected class status under applicable law.

The Predoctoral Internship program utilizes the APPI Online portal for applications (more details are provided in our brochure). The program prefers applications from individuals pursuing a doctoral degree from an academic program in clinical or counseling psychology. Applications from those pursuing a doctoral degree in school psychology, particularly those with a substantial clinical emphasis, are also accepted. Ph.D. and Psy.D. degrees are preferred, however, Ed.D. degrees are also acceptable. Washburn requires that applicants come from accredited institutions of higher education with preference given to those programs that are also APA/CPA-accredited.

Washburn has a strong commitment to diversity, inclusion, and culturally responsive practice. That being said, it strongly encourages and welcomes members of diverse backgrounds to apply, those who are multilingual, as well as those who express a strong desire to engage in culturally responsive practice. Applicants are encouraged to speak about their cultural backgrounds in their essays.

Washburn seeks Interns who are passionate about careers in community mental health and specializing in culturally-responsive and evidenced-informed evaluation, assessment, and treatment of children, adolescents, and families. We also seek Interns who are flexible, well-organized, collaborative, as well as have strong oral and written communication skills. Those that are highly invested in training and in the professional development process are also strongly encouraged to apply. Completion of required course work, supervised practica, comprehensive examinations, and are in good standing within their psychology training program are prerequisites for application to the Internship Program. In addition, an applicant's dissertation should be proposed by the application deadline, as well as preferably defended by the start of Internship.

The following are minimum qualifications for potential Interns:

- 1) Assessment/Psychological Evaluation Coursework and Experience
 - a. Completion of graduate coursework in cognitive and personality assessment of children and adults
 - b. Completion of coursework in psychopathology and diagnostic assessment
 - c. Completion of at least a 600-hour diagnostic/assessment practicum (minimum of 150 direct, face-to-face hours)
 - d. Supervised practica experience in the administration of Rorschach Inkblots and R-PAS scoring system is preferred
 - e. Completion of at least 6 integrated psychological reports, as well as preferably supervised completion of or exposure to the feedback process
- 2) Therapy Coursework and Experience
 - a. Completion of graduate coursework (preferably including play and family therapy courses) in psychotherapy/interventions
 - b. Completion of at least a 600 hour therapy/intervention practicum with children, adolescents, and/or families (minimum of 150 direct, face-to-face hours)
- 3) Cultural Responsiveness Coursework and Experience
 - a. Completion of graduate coursework related to assessment and treatment of diverse populations
 - b. Practica experience providing services to diverse clientele
- 4) Supervision Coursework
 - a. Completion of graduate coursework related to supervision
- 5) Verification from the applicant's graduate school Director of Training that the prerequisites for applying for internship have been completed.
